Wheels of Money is a graph the author created to teach his five- and six-year-olds the basics of counting money. The idea was to make it fun and colorful to attract their interest. To his surprise, it worked better and faster than he expected. They asked for it daily and in a matter of days, they mastered it.

Today, at ages nine and ten, they are both making A-B honor roll and are doing well in math. Their success has made the author very proud and inspired him to make his work available worldwide.
